

At Whelen, we use low frequency (300 hz to 700 hz) warning tones because tones in this range penetrate most background noise and carry to greater distances than higher frequency tones.